Earlier this year, Emile Chouriet supported the 45th edition of the Prix de Lausanne and, as a partner of this prestigious dance competition, participates in the training of young dancers. Emile Chouriet new creation, the Fair Lady Ballerina, takes its inspiration from this world of classical dance.

The floaty movement inspired by fluttering silk tutus cloaks the new Fair Lady's dial with whirling waves. Like a comet fired by four gleaming diamond markers at the cardinal points, it captures the light and is bathed in a shimmering glow.

The Fair Lady comes in two case sizes - 22mm and 29mm -, in steel or gold plated, and with a choice of two quartz movement, Ronda 753 (three hands) or Ronda 751 (two hands). It is worn with a steel, white satin or black leather strap or around the neck like a precious charm, with a steel or gold plated chain.

The prices of the Fair Lady Ballerina models range from 600 Swiss francs (pendant version, steel case) to 950 francs for the gold-plated steel watch and matching bracelet.
